Design Policies

- Please contact us about options such as ad positioning, two-page layout, cover or middle placement, feature content or advertorials (AdelanteMagazine@gmail.com)
- We want your ad to print correctly. If your ad is late, has problems, needs late edits, or is otherwise “stressed,” the chances of its running incorrectly increase significantly. Therefore, please take a moment to understand our design and digital submission policies.
- First-time advertisers are given assistance, not to exceed one (1) hour of labor, for each contracted ad. This "base ad" can be modified to fit appropriate advertising spaces in Adelante Magazine. Additional layout and design assistance is available on a $60 per hour, pro-rated basis ($15 per 15-minute increment).
- All advertisers must sign a contract before advertisement layout and design services can begin.
- Ads must be designed so they can be placed on either left or right pages.
- We prefer PDF ad submissions. We will also accept native files with all fonts embedded or included.
- Photos of a minimum of 300dpi are preferred, but we will allow images as low as 200dpi. Please understand that these may not print as crisply as higher-resolution images.
- You may use crop marks to indicate bleed and trim for bleed ads.
- Should you require a proof before final publication of the edition, you must request this at the time of your submission. Proofs will not be provided for late submissions.
- Email submission is preferred to <mailto:adelantemagazine@gmail.com> although we are willing to arrange for Dropbox, Google Drive or your own FTP service.

For graphic-heavy ads, translation will be returned to you for layout and placement.

For those who submit their own Spanish, we do reserve the right to ask for Spanish language typos to be fixed, if time permits.

Adelante is proud to use Collado Translation for all our translation needs. Please note when planning your pages that Spanish often uses 25% more space than English.
